SWARAJISTS REJECT BUDGET OF CENTRAL PROVINCES OF INDIA

Home Rulers Forced Adoption of Motion Cutting Down
Salaries of Two Ministers From 72,000 to Two Rupees; Similar Developments at Delhi Probable

Nagpur, British India, March 10.—The obstructionist tactics of the Swarajists, or Home Rulers, culminated Saturday in rejection of the entire budget for the Central Provinces and the passage of a motion in the Assembly reducing the salaries of the two Indian Ministers from 72,000 to two rupees.

London, March 10.—The Calcutta correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, reporting the rejection of the budget of the Central Provinces through the opposition of the Swarajists, says there are indications at Delhi that a similar situation is likely to arise there.

On the other hand, the Swarajists in Bengal were defeated by one vote on a motion declaring no confidence in the Indian Ministers and there are signs of disintegration in the extremists' camp.

Y.M.C.A. Canvass Starts To-morrow

Long-felt Need of Funds For Association's Work Will Be Remedied In Drive For $85,000; Business and Professional Men of Victoria Lined Up to Aid in Campaign

The canvassing committees of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. step into action to-morrow, in the beginning of a four-day drive for funds, with which to wipe out the indebtedness of the association and place it upon a firm financial basis. Dozens of the city's most prominent business and professional men have arranged themselves upon the committees under competent leaders, and are facing the task of accumulating $85,000 in the four-day drive.

The officials and campaign managers of the association are anxious that the public be fully acquainted with the conditions which the Y.M.C.A. faces, and the absolute necessity of a drive for funds. With this end in view, 5,000 pamphlets have been distributed among the citizens of Victoria, clearly showing the position in which the association is placed, and the various reasons for the need of financial assistance.

PRESENT CONDITIONS
The Y.M.C.A. here is facing a foreclosure of the mortgage, long since overdue, and has until March 31 to redeem it. As a stimulus the mortgagees subscribed $12,500, a very generous gift. A bank loan, which was placed when the mortgage was assumed, also has to be met. This has been reduced from $20,000 to $9,000. Accumulated current deficits, due to the partial failure of the Community Chest campaign, total $4,405, and current obligations of $6,500 cripple the work disastrously. The building, too, needs renovating in order that the service to boys and young men may be improved, and a consequent financial improvement follow. This is the position of the Y.M.C.A. at present, and the remedy is obvious.

Y.M.C.A. officials realize the opportunity they have in helping the young men and boys of Victoria to make better citizens, in a moral and physical sense. There are 1,203 boys in the city's public schools, 421 in the High School, and many hundreds others in Oak Bay, Esquimalt and other surrounding municipalities. If the service to these boys is to be continued along the splendid lines set down by the association, there must come aid from the citizens, the parents of these children, immediately.

ASSOCIATION'S AIMS
The plan of the Y.M.C.A. in the past and for the future, is founded upon the "four-square" programme for the training of boys. Physical fitness, a prime essential in life, is produced by means of gymnasium work, supervised recreation, swimming instruction, directed athletics, Summer outings, and generally healthful pastime. Mental alertness is encouraged through practical talks, first aid, debates, nature study, outings and sex education. Right relationships are promoted in the home, school and community, through various activities of the association, vocational guidance, World Outlook Club, Leaders' Corps and other means. Moral standards are developed through frank discussion of the boy's problems, Bible study, instruction in citizenship.

SMALL GROUP OF ARMY OFFICERS IN IRELAND INVOLVED IN MUTINY

Dublin, March 10.—The extent of the mutiny in the ranks of the national army is apparently less serious than at first supposed, judging from a statement issued at army headquarters.

The responsible officers absconded at Templemore and a quantity of arms and ammunition is missing. A new garrison was sent to the post and the situation is normal.

There was a similar incident at the Baldonnel aerodrome with three Lewis guns, and at Rosecommon two officers "were seduced from allegiance" and left with arms and ammunition Sunday morning.

Premier King Rests From Duties; Visits New York

Ottawa, March 10.—Premier King is in New York to-day, having left here Saturday. He may go on to Atlantic City for a couple of days. ## Big Dog Saved Boy From Death Under Sleigh North Bay, Ont., March 10.—While playing with a big dog here five-year-old Leonard Wilson was knocked down by a grocer's delivery sleigh. Like a flash the dog seized the lad by the collar of his coat and attempted to drag him out of harm's way. He succeeded in pulling the child a short distance, but one of the runners of the sleigh passed over the little fellow's legs. The boy will recover.

GOVERNMENT TO PROVE UTMOST CARE TAKEN IN KEEPING P.G.E. BOOKS

To Produce Evidence to Disprove Rossiter's Assertion That Money Was Paid to Contractors Without Check by Government Officials; Railway Investigation
Develops Into Laborious Examination of Old Accounts

Evidence to prove that Pacific Great Eastern Railway accounts were kept by the Government with the care and efficiency which would be exercised by any business man will be brought before the Royal Commission on P.G.E. affairs, S. S. Taylor, K.C., senior Government counsel, announced just before the railway investigation under Mr. Justice Galloway adjourned for luncheon this afternoon.

Mr. Taylor's announcement followed a long, dull session, during which the Provincial Party labored persistently to prove that money had been paid by the Government to railway contractors without proper check—without any check by Government officials in many cases. To support this long evidence, by E. J. Rossiter, former construction accountant of the Railway Department, and star witness of the Provincial Party, was taken. Rossiter swore that many expenditure items in the P.G.E. account had been paid without his approval and added that his complaints to the Government Engineer, A. F. Proctor, had produced no results.

In answer to this Government counsel pointed out that all the items mentioned by Mr. Rossiter as having been paid without the authorization of proper Government officials had been included in blanket estimates approved by Mr. Proctor.

Before turning to Mr. Rossiter's evidence on P.G.E. accounts the Provincial Party lawyers delivered further into the loss of Northern Construction Company's books covering P.G.E. work.

HEARD OF ROSSITER
Edward G. McLennan, of the Vancouver office of the Northern Construction Company, was called at the opening of to-day's session. Examined by Sir Charles Tupper, K.C., counsel for the Provincial Party, he said he had heard of the Rossiter affidavits. All the Northern Construction Company's books, he stated, were preserved according to the firm's practice. Mr. McLennan was questioned as to the ledgers which, according to previous testimony, was mislaid in the company's office, and which has not been recovered.

Witness said he knew nothing about the disappearance of the books. He said he had searched vigilantly, but had been unable to discover them when they were demanded by Price, Waterhouse and Company, Government auditors, last Fall. He had not known of the loss of the books until the auditors asked for them. Usually the company's books were kept for six years after their completion before being destroyed. No inventory of books dumped was kept, he said, but added that he knew of no P.G.E. books being discarded. It was possible that the missing books had been dumped by mistake, but he had taken the utmost care to see that only worthless books were destroyed. Perhaps, he suggested, the books had been lost before the destruction of old company records last Summer. Some books had been destroyed in 1915, he stated.

Company books, witness declared, were kept as long as they were considered of any use.

SCIENTIFIC BODY MAY VISIT COAST

British Association Members Likely to Come at End of August

Following Annual Proceedings
at Toronto Transcanda
Tour Contemplated

There is a strong probability that the British Association for the Advancement of Science, the foremost scientific body in the British Empire, may be induced to extend its Canadian visit to the Coast after the annual gathering in Toronto from August 6 to 12. It also happens that on August 11 the five-day convention of the International Mathematical Congress will begin in Toronto at which will be gathered all the great mathematicians of the world except those of the Central European countries, which are still outcast in this great body.

Steps are being taken to promote an excursion across Canada, composed of two or three special trains, which will come out by way of one railway, and return by the other, visiting the chief cities and university centres.

To secure support to this movement Dr. J. C. McLennan, O.B.E., head of the physics department at the University of Toronto, who is himself one of the foremost scientists in Canada, arrived in the city to-day to confer with the Provincial Government to secure their support to bring the

French Ministry Now Mobilizes Forces to End Decline of Franc

Paris, March 10.—The mobilization of all France's forces, political, economic and financial, in the battle against any further fall of the franc on the international exchange market was continued to-day. The Cabinet sat for three hours at the Foreign Office going thoroughly into the present situation, which all acknowledged to be most grave.

For one thing, the Government decided that under no circumstances would the French Treasury resort to further loans, not even for the devastated districts. Neither will it permit inflation of the currency.

Meanwhile the Bank of France, whose directors conferred with President Millerand and Premier Poincaré yesterday, announced that their institution would associate itself without reserve with the effort of the Government to bring about a favorable turn in the exchange market. The bank forthwith began active

Suggests Private Capital Be Raised To Build Elevator

Arthur E. Haynes Tells Chamber of Commerce No
Difficulty Would Be Experienced In Raising Money
By Subscriptions

A grain elevator in Victoria should be financed, built and operated if necessary by the members of the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens themselves was the text of a suggestion offered by Arthur E. Haynes, managing director of the Commercial and Financial Corporation, Limited, to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day.

Stating that he had read with pleasure and enlightenment the recent article in The Times, Mr. Haynes stated that he was personally of the opinion that the erection of the first elevator, emphasizing the first essential to the proper and early development of the port as a wheat shipping point of distribution.

$1,000 SUBSCRIPTIONS
Each member of the chamber would take one share of $1,000 or agree to obtain a subscription of this amount, the directors could call an emergency meeting immediately to which the public could be invited. He believed there would be no difficulty in securing the subscriptions. He drew attention to the city's offer of free water and other concessions to the assurance that when the elevator is built parts of sound financial standing would take a twenty years' lease, paying a rental the equivalent of six per cent. on the cost.

Let us set aside the argument Victoria is on an island and therefore isolated," he continued. "Is not London situated on an island? Have we not already docks and shipping facilities unequalled in the Northern Pacific waters? Could not these docks be approached by vessels from the Pacific by way of waters free from sand bars, shoals or rocks? Have we not sufficient depth of water for the largest ocean going freighters?"

He pointed to the large steam freighters to the number of thirty or forty which could be seen anchored in the harbor of Vancouver awaiting their turn to tie up at the elevator wharf to show what a changed condition had taken place since the erection of the first elevator in Vancouver.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT TO THE ADDRESS MAY BE MOVED IN COMMONS

Another Conservative Motion or One From Another Group Possible; Hance Logan, Nova Scotia Member, Speaks This Afternoon From Liberal Side of House

Ottawa, March 10.—New interest attaches to the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne this week on account of the amendment which was moved on Friday by Donald Sutherland, chairman of the Conservative caucus. This motion has cleared the air somewhat in regard to the Conservative attitude, although it is not impossible there may be a further amendment either from the same party or from some other group in the House before the debate ends.

The speaking will be opened this afternoon by Hance J. Logan, Liberal representative of Cumberland, N.S., and now a veteran of Parliament. Donald F. Kellner, Edmonton East, will be the first heard from the Progressive Party.

Notice has been given by Hon. G. P. Graham, who is leading the House in the absence of Premier King, that later sittings will be necessary to bring the debate to an end, as Mr. Graham put it, "within a reasonable time."

RESCUERS RECOVERING BODIES OF 175 MINERS AFTER UTAH DISASTER

Castlegate, Utah, March 10.—Eighteen bodies had been recovered from the Utah Fuel Company's Mine No. 2 this morning. Many more have been definitely located, according to reports coming to the surface. Rescue work is being rushed and it is expected that tonight will see a major portion of the mine investigated. Indications are that none of the 175 men who were entombed by the triple explosion Saturday morning will be found alive.

All available trucks have been called into service to haul bodies. Ten undertakers are working at the temporary morgue in the Knights of Pythias Hall.

The destructive explosion occurred from some yet unknown cause Saturday morning at 8.15. First came a terrific blast which hurled timbers, pipes and rails across the gulch, a distance of several thousand feet. The 800-pound steel door of the mine disaster was hurled half a mile. The second blast came a minute later and in twenty minutes came the third.

Andrew Gilberts, seventy-three, a survivor of the mine disaster at Winter Quarters and an inspector at the Castlegate Mine No. 2, is among those still missing. Gilberts had been with the Utah Fuel Company for thirty years. One of his sons is a member of a rescue party.

Seven instances are known where fathers and sons were working together in the mine at the time of the explosion.

JUGO-SLAVS SAID TO HAVE MADE PLANS FOR INVASION OF BULGARIA

Sofia, March 10.—A grave situation has developed in the relations between Bulgaria and Jugo-Slavia, official and diplomatic quarters having learned of the probability of an occupation of Bulgarian territory as a result of the tension between the two countries. This unfavorable turn came despite an optimistic statement issued by the Jugo-Slav Minister here, M. Rakitch, saying there was no danger of a break in the friendly relations.

Notwithstanding this, the advisers reaching the officials were so circumstantial as to an impending occupation that the diplomatic colony began to make arrangements for its action in that eventuality.

Cloverdale, B.C., March 10.—The Cloverdale Hotel and its garage and outbuildings, all of frame construction, were burned to the ground late yesterday afternoon in a fire which was the most disastrous in the town's history, causing damage estimated at $20,000 and for a time threatening to spread to all other buildings in the vicinity.

There was no loss of life and no one injured in the blaze.

TOOK HOLY ORDERS FIFTY YEARS AGO

Archbishop of Canterbury
Celebrates Anniversary; 33
Years a Bishop

London, March 10 (Canadian Press Cable).—Fifty years ago last week Most Rev. Randall Thomas Davidson, Archbishop of Canterbury, took deacon's orders. For thirty-three years he has been a bishop and exactly twenty years ago he entered upon the highest position which the Anglican Church offers her priesthood, that of Archbishop.

Naturally, in view of his years and length of service, rumors frequently arise contemplating Archbishop Davidson's retirement. The only verification for them is that the Archbishop continues working rather harder than the majority of his mitted brethren.

Should Archbishop Davidson be unable to continue in office by reason of ill-health there are several possibilities of extreme interest in connection with his successor at Lambeth Palace. Doubtless a good deal would depend upon the color of the Government at the time, although in recent years the Prime Ministers have shown a commendable indifference to the political labels of the clergy entitled to high preferment.

The names of Bishop Temple of Manchester, Bishop Burge of Oxford and Bishop Kempthorne of Lichfield are most often mentioned in connection with the possible vacancy in the Archbishopric of Canterbury, but when the time comes there may be others up for consideration.

EXPERTS AGREE ON RECOMMENDATIONS

Committees' Plans For Germany Will Not Upset French Claims

Paris, March 10.—Nothing at present indicates that any recommendations which will be made by the two committees of experts which have been investigating Germany's economic and financial situation on behalf of the Reparations Commission are incompatible with fundamental French claims. This statement was made in official French circles in commenting upon pessimistic articles published recently in French newspapers.

It was added that there was every reason to believe all recommendations would receive the unanimous endorsement of the experts representing every country, a general accord having been reached on the main points.

All children between the ages of one and ten receive $7.50, and all over ten years of age $15.

QUICK ACT SAVED BOY FROM INJURY

Girl Threw Coat Over Lad in Church Whose Surplice Had Caught Fire

London, Ont., March 10.—John Uyen, twelve, an altar boy in St. Martin's Church here, was saved from severe injury Sunday by the quick action of Marie Quirk, fourteen, who on entering the church and seeing the lad's surplice in flames, ran up the aisle, threw her coat about him and succeeded in extinguishing the fire before it spread to the heavier fabric of his soutane. Uyen was in the act of lighting the altar candles before Mass, and he was unaware of the fact that his surplice was in flames until the girl's coat was thrown over his head.

After the High Mass Sunday morning the parishioners of St. Martin's gathered and made Miss Quirk a presentation for her heroic act.

GIRL NEAR DEATH AS A RESULT OF EXPOSURE TO COLD

Toronto, March 10.—Little hope is held out for the recovery of Gladys O'Connor, the twenty-two-year-old Hamilton girl who was found in an unconscious state late Saturday lying in a sewer pipe in a refuse dump. She is suffering chiefly from exposure to the cold.

Miss O'Connor had been visiting relatives here when she suddenly disappeared last Tuesday.

NEW FRENCH TAX INCREASE OPPOSED

Paris, March 10.—Speaking at Montpellier last night, former Premier Caillaux criticized the proposal of the Poincare Government to increase the taxes twenty per cent, which he said would only increase the taxpayers' burden, but there was emphatic necessity for drastic measures to arrest the economic weakness which threatened to end in vassalage, "for it is vassalage," he said, "to live under the sign of the pound and the dollar."

FACES TRIAL ON ROBBERY CHARGE

C. R. Chamberlain, Wanted
in San Antonio, Texas,
Found at Oakalla

Vancouver, March 10.—Sought by United States authorities since February, 1922, C. R. Chamberlain, alias Stanley Chamberlain, alias Thomas Defries, wanted on charges of being implicated in the blowing of a safe in the offices of the American Express Company at San Antonio, Texas, in the winter of 1921, when several thousand dollars in cash and a large number of express orders were stolen, has been located in Oakalla, B.C., where he is serving a sentence under the Narcotic Drug Act. Chamberlain, police say, has admitted his identity, waived extradition and expressed willingness to go back in custody to San Antonio to face trial. He is being held for the arrival of J. D. Bell, special agent for the American Express Company, which had offered a reward for the capture of the man.

ANTI-NARCOTIC EFFORTS INCREASE

Government of Canada Co-operating Actively With Governments of Other Nations

Ottawa, March 10 (Canadian Press).—Since June, 1919, when the Federal Government undertook the suppression of the drug traffic on an extensive scale, the scope of the work has steadily increased, states F. W. Cowan, chief of the narcotic division of the Department of Health. Until the nations of the world undertook to co-operate in the stamping out of the illicit trade in drugs, no one was fully aware of the extent to which the traffic was being carried on. During the past few years there has been more mutual understanding between countries in endeavoring to catch the big "dope" dealers than ever before.

MORE ARRESTS

The result of this co-operation between the Governments and police of nations has been that the actual arrests and convictions in Canada have increased materially. The Federal Department by working with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has directed its efforts chiefly to the shadowing and arresting of the men "higher up" who in many cases are not addicts themselves but merely direct and carry on the business transactions of the illicit trading. The actual shadowing and arresting of addicts and small peddlers has been left for the most part to the various local police forces. Only in such cases as may lead to the conviction of the men who are the centre of the big rings does the Federal Department take an active part.

LEAGUE COMMITTEE

In November of this year the Opium Committee of the League of Nations Council will meet to determine if possible the actual quantity of opium required for legitimate purposes in the world. It is hoped this will lead eventually to restrictions in some countries regarding the sale and importation of narcotic drugs, authorities are often working in the dark because drugs can be brought into a country in bond under disguise of lawful manufactured goods and then shipped to another country, and accordingly it is almost impossible to maintain any effective record of the drugs in circulation. Canada is playing an active part in the international fight against the traffic, according to Mr. Cowan, and photographs and fingerprints of suspected dealers are constantly exchanged.

LABOR MEN WANT RADIO AT OTTAWA

Toronto, March 10.—The Labor Political Representation Association, at its annual meeting in the Labor Temple here on Saturday, passed a resolution censuring the press of Canada for what was described as its alleged neglect to give adequate space to labor news and the speeches of Labor representatives at public meetings and in the legislative halls of the country.

Another resolution called upon the Federal Government to install radio equipment in the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa so that proceedings might be broadcast throughout the country.

SAYS LABOR WILL MAKE BRITAIN SUFFER

Winston Churchill Attacks MacDonald Ministry in Abbey By-Election Campaign

London, March 10 (Canadian Press Cable).—Winston Spencer Churchill, independent candidate in the by-election in the Abbey division of Westminster, has issued an election address in which he says: "Although I do not grudge the experienced trade unionists their spoil of office, and although I recognize the patriotism of some of the leading Ministers and of many Labor men, I am sure the whole spirit of the Socialist Party and the doctrines they proclaim will be destructive of the welfare of Great Britain and the greatness of the Empire. I am sure the Socialist Party will not allow their representatives to govern on moderate lines very long."

The address refers to the Government being in a position to go to the country at any time with a programme of bribes and doles which would win the credit of the state.

Mr. Churchill declares he supports Stanley Baldwin in his policy of setting the country before party.

COURT OF JUSTICE CHANGES IN BRITAIN

London, March 10 (Canadian Press Cable).—A bill of some importance which the present Government has adopted as a legacy from the previous Ministry deals with the reform of the system of the administration of justice throughout the country. The bill, which was re-introduced to the present Parliament by Lord Haldane, has special reference to the holdings of assizes. Under the bill, power will be given to the Lord Chief Justice, if it appears to him that there is no substantial business at a particular assize town, to discontinue with assizes at that town for that circuit. If the work justifies the holding of assizes, they will be held; if it does not, they will not be held.

The new bill also proposes to give an absolute right to trial by jury in cases of libel, slander, malicious persecution, false imprisonment and breach of promise, and in other cases unless, in the opinion of the judge, the cause is more fit to be tried without a jury.

REPORTS EXECUTION OF TWO ESKIMOS

Sergt. Thorne, R.C.M.P., at Ft. Yukon Tells of Herschel Island Hangings

Fairbanks, Alaska, March 10.—The execution of Alik Omiak and "Eskimo" Tetamangma, of the uncivilized Copper Tribe of Eskimos, was carried out on Herschel Island, February 1, according to Sergt. Thorne, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who has arrived at Fort Yukon, 150 miles north of here. The men were hanged for the murder of Corp. Doak of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and Otto Brender, a white trader of Coronation Gulf.

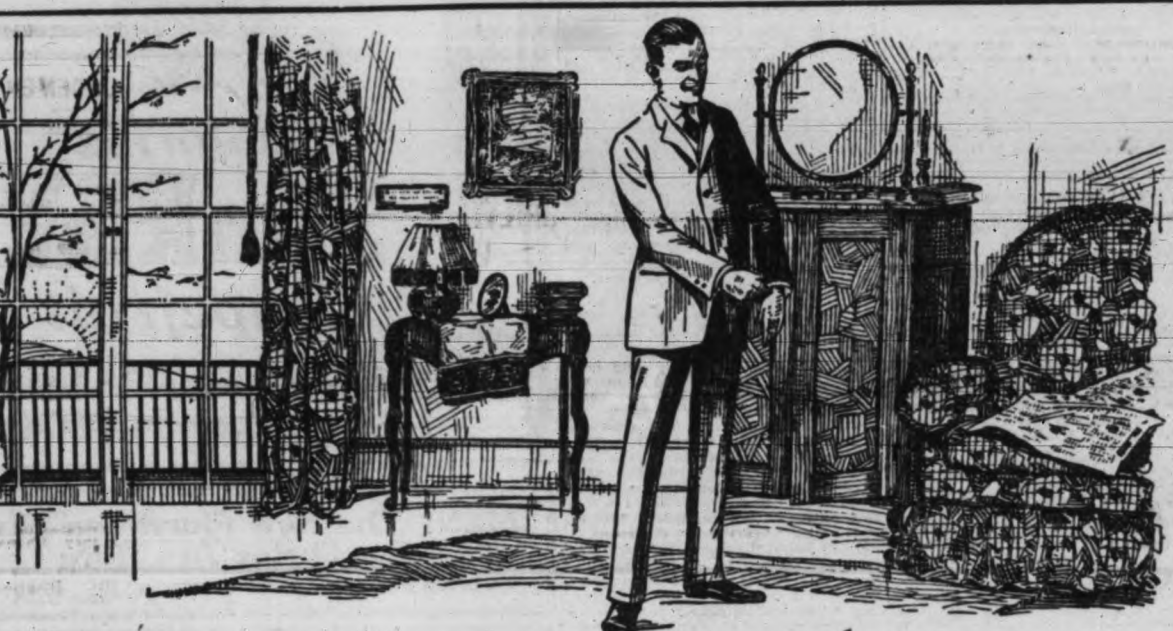

Sergt. Thorne reports they remained in good spirits until the hour of their death, and on the scaffold declared the police had long been the enemies of their people.

The message received here from the police officer, the first to tell of the execution, stated that other members of the police party who assisted at the hangings, are remaining at Herschel until the opening of navigation. They will come out by way of the Mackenzie River.

GIVE THE Y.M.C.A. A CHANCE

IT might be thought difficult to think of a city of the size and importance of Victoria without a Y.M.C.A. adequate to minister to the needs of its young men and boys.

But such is the situation that faces Victoria at the present time. The Association is asking the people of Victoria for $85,000 with which to pay off the mortgage it had to take when some of the contributors to the building campaign fund were unable to make their payments. This mortgage with interest now amounts to $58,375, of which the mortgages offer to mark off $12,500 if the whole loan is paid off by March 31. The rest of the money now asked for is required to wipe off a bank loan of $9,600, reduced from $20,000 since 1913, to clear off current deficits and renovate the building.

The people of Victoria are being asked by Dr. Morris Thomas, president of the Association, and Mr. George McGregor, chairman of the campaign, to subscribe this money so that the organization may be rid of this burden and handicap on its activities. If the money is raised, it will provide the association with the first chance it has had since it built here, to get on its feet and run as a self-sustaining organization.

Will Victoria give its Y.M.C.A. this chance?

For those who know how eagerly the young men and boys are looking for this because the "Y" has meant so much to them, for those who know of the work it does in this community towards the physical and moral upbuilding of the young manhood, for those who know something of the enthusiasm and inspiration of the father and son "get together"—there can only be one answer.

VALUE OF CO-OPERATION

WHILE experts are educating the public, and particularly the producing class, on the advantage of co-operative marketing, Vancouver Island is proving its value in the field of agricultural development. Significantly both the Cowichan and Comox creameries have held their meetings within a few days of one another, and in each case showed a large quantity of produce disposed of at prices beyond the capacity of the individual to obtain them. While primarily established to handle dairy products, the Comox association goes farther into the co-operative field, doing a large business in potatoes and jam. The necessity of handling soft fruits does not arise in Cowichan, owing to the fact that there exists already a co-operative fruit-growers' association.

Both of these associations are finding their chief problems to be the handling of the produce of their members economically, and meeting interest on borrowed capital. The fruit situation around Victoria has amply justified the decision of the local growers to organize for mass distribution, but it has also proved that too heavy an overhead will wreck the best managed schemes, justifying their wisdom in staying out of the co-operative union which was to have controlled the soft fruit market of the Province. While some money has been lost, it might have been much more had the Saanich and Gordon Head growers thrown over a carefully nursed organization for a policy of co-operation without full knowledge of export market organization. The Island fruitgrowers, with five district organizations, have reached the stage when more cannery facilities will become imperative, a subject now receiving consideration.

The Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association is regarded as the most successful example of co-operative marketing in British Columbia, but the various associations on the Island can now point to the advantage of a conservative, if not spectacular, rise in business in the last few years. The Cowichan creamery claims that it has had a larger turnover on a smaller capital than any other organization in Canada. If such is the case, it answers some of the criticism of the individualists.

SAVING EMPIRE'S WILD LIFE

ONE of the outstanding actions in the world-wide movement to preserve wild life is that of British bird-lovers who are proposing to buy Farne Islands, just off the coast of Northumberland. These islands, although not good for much else, are a crowded breeding-ground for sea birds from May to August. Elder ducks, four species of terns, cormorants, guillemots, razor-bills, puffins, several gulls, petrels, oyster catchers, redshanks and pewees are among the inhabitants. Private owners who have hitherto protected the wild life are now forced to sell, and bird-lovers intend to take no chances with possible purchasers.

South Africa is also doing its part to guard from extinction the wild life of the Empire. There it is proposed to make the Transvaal Game Reserve, which was established by the Republican Government when Transvaal was independent, into a national park. Its size was increased to 14,000 square miles by the British Government in 1902. For twenty years no shooting has been allowed. It is said that there is no place where within so short a distance of civilization it is possible to see so vast a collection of wild animals in their natural state.

In British Columbia, public opinion actively supports an efficient governmental Game Conservation Board in its work of guarding wild life. In the establishment of game preserves here, particularly that at Cowichan Lake for elk and the distinctive mountain goat, this part of Canada is well in the lead of the movement to save wild life from being driven off the face of the globe by the encroachments of man.

THE SAME MR. O'LEARY

IT now turns out that the Mr. Grattan O'Leary who has been writing the articles in a Toronto magazine attacking governmental extravagance at Ottawa and the "waste" in the civil service, is the same Mr. O'Leary who is one of the editors of The Ottawa Journal, the Conservative newspaper at the national capital.

Conservative newspapers throughout the country have been seizing upon his articles and reproducing them with relish. But now comes the Conservative Ottawa Journal to the defence of its community with an editorial scoffing at the idea that there was anything very much wrong with the civil service and showing that if the employees have increased so has the work.

The Toronto Star sees high humor in the situation with Mr. O'Leary as one of the editors of The Ottawa Journal strenuously denying the charges which Mr. O'Leary as a magazine writer makes in his articles.

"Will Mr. Grattan O'Leary explain things to The Journal, or The Journal explain things to Mr. Grattan O'Leary?" The Star asks. "Can they not get together? Living in the same office, writing mostly with the same lead pencil, why quarrel thus?"

Every year is leap year for the pedestrian.

The next civil war, The Seattle Argus prophesies, is quite likely to be over the proper method for playing Mah Jongg.

"It is not Downing Street now but Main Street which is the foe of true Canadianism." Such is Vincent Massey's estimate of Canadian sectionalism.

Switzerland will allow the deposed caliph to stay there under the same restrictions of non-political action imposed on other exiles. They had better send to Doorn for another of those woodpiles.

Britain under its labor government is taking up conservation of human resources. The proposed new child protection laws will prohibit smoking by children under sixteen, protect children before birth and prevent any marriage of persons under sixteen. Girls in Britain under present laws can be married at twelve years of age and boys at fourteen.

To stimulate Canadian sentiment The Toronto Mail and Empire suggests a new national holiday to be set apart and kept as the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln are in United States. It proposes the birthday of Sir John A. Macdonald. As it mentioned two American holidays, The Mail must be leaving the way open for some good Liberal paper to propose the birthday of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as the other for Canada.

HEAR THE PRAYER OF THE HUMBLE

THE WIND

From Poetry
The cabin sits alone far up a hill
Where all the year the mournful wind blows shrill
She used to tell him sometimes, "No one knows How hard it is to listen while it blows."
He never touched a pillow again, they say,
After he found her dead, but went away.
And tenantry wouldn't live upon the place,
Because, the neighbors said, they saw her face
Peered close against the little window-pane
Watching the twisting storm-clouds in the rain;
And in the night-time they could hear her cry
And moan and whimper if the gale were high.
They said she had no cause to die, but still
The wind was always blowing on that hill.

Paris Papers and Editors

One Writer Used Both Hands in a Duel,
So He Was Fined For Assault and Battery

From the Manchester Guardian
LIKE the Fliegende Schuette and other prominent French dailies, the Gaulois has found it impossible to change its opinions without changing its editors. It started in 1867 as a fierce Republican organ under Edmond Turbe, who subsequently veered round to the government side. When Turbe made way for Jules Simon there was another spell of Republicanism, and then came Arthur Meyer, who died recently. Meyer made the Gaulois first a Bonapartist, then a Boulangist, and finally, a Royalist organ. For many years he was one of the best-hated men in France, yet there is no doubt he was a superlatively good editor. The Fliegende got some of its best men—including Francisque Sarcey and Edmond About—by bribing them to leave the Gaulois; but Meyer always managed to discover equally good men to fill the gaps, so that his paper suffered little in the long run.

Perhaps the most humiliating incident of his career was the duel with Edouard Drumont, who had attacked Meyer in La France Juive. The weapons were swords, and the use of the left hand was forbidden. Yet when Drumont came on, Meyer gripped his opponent's sword with his left hand at the same time hanging with his own—a gross violation of the rules. Drumont broke his own sword, and refused to fight any more, exclaiming, "Take him back to the Ghetto!" They did not take Meyer back to the Ghetto, they took him before a magistrate, who fined him 100 francs for assault and battery, even his own seconds not having a word to say in his defense. Alphonse Daudet was amongst the witnesses who gave evidence against him.

Made "Great Mountain" Known

Champlain's Successor as Governor of New France, Was Matched For Ironclad and Was Largely Responsible For Canada's Boundaries Being So Extensive

This Day in Canada's Past—March 10.

ON March 10, 1635, Cardinal Richelieu confirmed the appointment of the Chevalier Hault de Montmagny as Champlain's successor in the Governorship of New France. The energetic and distinguished old founder of our country lay on his deathbed when the fur company's ships sailed for France in the Autumn. News of his passing must have been sent from some port further south on the Atlantic seaboard, for the appointment was swiftly made and the new Governor sailed with the first ships in the Spring, to step ashore on June 11.

The Chevalier de Montmagny had achieved some military renown and was a knight of the Order of St. John of Malta, celibate and under religious vows, as was also his lieutenant-governor, the Chevalier de La Roche. Steadfast and enthusiastic in the extreme, steeped in the atmosphere of religious devotion, Montmagny was not greatly gifted, but did his duty punctiliously. He made mistakes which cost the colony dear, due to excess of caution and excess of trustfulness. The few scattered inhabitants, not more than 200, centred at Quebec and Three Rivers, criticized him surreptitiously, but the Jesuits admired him greatly and supported him. In every religious exercise and duty he set a fine example, and inasmuch as he continually urged counsel on the fathers, they approved him as a heaven-sent instrument in the establishment of their ideal theocracy.

Montmagny was confronted almost immediately on his arrival with the Iroquois menace. These most ferocious, most astute savages in America had, in the twenty-seven years since first they had met a European in the person of Champlain, been supplied with firearms by the Dutch on Manhattan Island. This circumstance increased their power enormously, especially as the French would not supply their Indian allies with European weapons, except which put the Hurons at the mercy of this determined confederacy which had decreed their extermination. The Governor did his best, but he was never quick enough for the elusive Iroquois. In any case his resources in fighting men and equipment were pitiful, for the trading company would not or could not afford the outlay really necessary for the protection of the colony. The Hurons on their way to trade were captured on the Ottawa with their party, and for years they were unable to risk the summer trip from their country to Three Rivers.

IN 1641 the Iroquois were willing to make peace and wished to add to form an alliance with the French. At this would have alienated the Huron and Algonquin allies of New France or have sooner or later involved the sacrifice of those allies, the Governor refused. The inroads of the merciless foe therefore continued to the ruin of the company and the stagnation of the colony.

In one respect Montmagny deserves the lasting gratitude of the Canada of to-day. With the assistance of his friends the Jesuits quietly and unobtrusively he formed alliances with the Algonquin tribes whose country lay south of the St. Lawrence, welding them into a solid barrier against English advance from Massachusetts. It is probably to this most effective policy that we owe it that Canada's boundaries are not even further north and east along the state of Maine than they actually are.

Three Rivers. Numerous wampum belts were presented to the Governor, each containing a long banner crowded with vivid imagery. The Governor replied with many presents, each one emphasizing a point which he wished to strike home. The Iroquois departed in great rejoicing, and once more the fleet of fur-laden Huron canoes swept down the Ottawa. But Montmagny made the mistake of trusting the treacherous Iroquois. Relying on the treaty, he withdrew the small French garrison from the Huron country by Lake Simcoe, and also dismantled the fort which he had built at the mouth of the Richelieu River. Within the year the Iroquois were once more on the war-path against the Hurons, and the attacks were not to cease until the Huron nation had been destroyed three years later in 1649.

Montmagny is memorable in several connections. His name in English Great Mountain, in the Indian language Ontario, became the wilderness designation for all succeeding governors of New France. In his time, too, the missionary outpost of Montreal was founded, though he was opposed to this expansion when the position of the colony was so precarious. To him was presented in June of 1647 by the colonists the first horse in the valley of the St. Lawrence. Under his direction the first adequate building of the Chateau St. Louis rose on the Rock of Quebec, and over the gate he had carved his insignia, the cross of the Order of St. John of Malta, with the date 1647. That stone exists to-day, built into the wall above the outer doorway of the Chateau Frontenac, the great Canadian Pacific Railway hotel on the site of the Chateau St. Louis.

In 1649 Montmagny was recalled. His administration, though not utterly a failure, had not greatly advanced the growth or the safety of the colony. He left a legacy of pious precedent which was almost an annoyance to his successors for many a year to come.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK
SHOWS GROWTH

General Manager of Great
West Life Company Here

To complete the details for the forthcoming convention here of the leading agents of the Great West Life Assurance Co., the first of the conventions from points outside British Columbia this year, C. C. Ferguson, the general manager, is in Victoria from Winnipeg. Mr. Ferguson indicates that the gathering will commence on March 24, and last three or four days.

He will be in the city for some time, and is registered with his son at the Empress Hotel. He says, discussing the situation in the West: "The business outlook for 1924 is in my opinion distinctly encouraging. Of course there will be disappointments to those who entertain extravagant expectations but the experience of the past few years, during which western Canada has on the whole more than held its own, is reassuring and justifies a forecast of moderate prosperity for the immediate future and of more marked improvement subsequently."

RELATION TO WORLD
"The great consideration in this regard is the fact that Canada, and particularly the western portion of it, stands in an excellent position relatively with the other countries of the world. So much has been said about our great natural resources that we are inclined to regard further reference to them as commonplace, but if prosperity is to exist in any part of the world it will surely come to that country which possesses natural resources capable, as ours are, of immediate development."

COST OF WHEAT
"A commission has recently reported to the president of the United States that wheat can be grown in Canada at a very much lower cost per bushel than in the United States and, because of the lower cost of land, the same may be said of a great many other crops. There is therefore a real opportunity for agricultural prosperity in western Canada, though naturally the methods of farming require study and possibly alteration. The development of mixed farming is important, if only for the reason that it will reduce the amount of the farmers' cash expenditure for living necessities, and, further, it will tend towards more stable conditions than when reliance is placed upon the result of a single crop."

"As soon as the expected development begins in western Canada there will be a demand for credit. If the necessary capital is not available prosperity will be delayed. Accordingly our legislatures should seriously study the question of making Canada an attractive place for capital investment, the more so because during recent years the differences in exchange have created a tendency for the withdrawal of invested funds."

INSURANCE BUSINESS
"One can always speak with greater accuracy and confidence regarding conditions in his own business, and so mention may be permitted of the great development which has taken place in life insurance during the past few years. In that business there is now progress and prosperity far greater than during any previous period in the history of life insurance, and the large amounts which people of Canada have practically on deposit with the life insurance companies should not be overlooked in making up the community balance sheet. Certainly the business outlook of life insurance is excellent, and in respect to business generally a reasonable tone of optimism exists and is amply justified by the fundamental economic situation."

A famous actor who repeatedly made farewell appearances announced another final tour.

"What will you play?" asked a friend.

"Something of Shakespeare," said the actor.

"Much Adieu About Nothing, I suppose," said the friend.

"What will you play?" asked a friend.

"Something of Shakespeare," said the actor.

Swindon Saved by Fleming's Great Goal Near Close

Burnley was Leading Ten Minutes From Close; Free Kick Then Converted

Seventy-Five Thousand Fans See Cardiff Game; Scottish Cup-Tie Games

London, March 10 (Canadian Press cable)—Reports of the English football games collected by the Canadian Press from the various cities in which they were played Saturday follow:

At Swindon a record crowd of 20,000 attended the Swindon-Burnley game which ended in a draw, both teams scoring once. The grounds were in fine condition. The early play was all in Burnley's favor. After seventeen minutes of play, Weaver, Burnley's left winger, opened the scoring, running through an open field and beating Randall, the Swindon goalie, at close quarters.

In the second half Burnley played with great care, the Burnley forwards were frequently dangerous and only Randall's brilliant work saved Swindon from being scored against. Ten minutes from the end, Swindon was given a free kick from which Fleming put the ball over Dawson's head into the goal.

VILLAS PLAY WELL

At Birmingham 50,000 saw Aston Villa beat West Bromwich Albion by 2 to 0. The West Bromwich team got going first and within a minute of the opening Gregory, the Albion left winger, hit the crossbar. The game then settled down, both teams putting up pretty exhibitions. After eighteen minutes of play, Capewell, the Villa center, scored with a header. The Villa attacked brilliantly, and Dorell, left winger, finally scored. With the score 2 to 0 against them, West Bromwich started the second half with a desperate effort to score, but the Villa's defense could not be penetrated.

At Newcastle, Newcastle, eliminated Liverpool by 1 to 0, before a vast crowd. The winning goal was scored when MacDonald headed in the ball after eighteen minutes of play. Liverpool, toward the end of the game, exerted some pressure but were easily held.

SPRITELY CONTEST

At Manchester the struggle between Cardiff and Manchester City was a spirited contest throughout and rightfully ended in a scoreless draw. At the start Cardiff seemed to give a clever display, Manchester was steady in front, but the goal in this half. Seventy-five thousand persons attended the match.

London, March 10 (Canadian Press cable)—Official figures on attendance and receipts at English cup tie Saturday were:

Manchester vs. Cardiff, gate 76,000, receipts £4,900.
Newcastle vs. Liverpool, gate 56,490, receipts £3,900.
West Bromwich Albion vs. Aston Villa, gate 43,750, receipts £2,794.
Swindon vs. Burnley, gate 22,210, receipts £2,517.

The games were played on grounds of first named clubs.
Glasgow, March 10 (Canadian Press cable)—Magnificent weather favored all the games played Saturday in the fourth round of the Scottish Football Association Cup series. The Hearts probably owe their defeat at the hands of Falkirk to the loss of Ramagge, who was consoling to retire after the game had been in progress twenty minutes, owing to injuries. In the second half, Dryson and Puddefoot each scored for Falkirk, and White scored for the Hearts near the finish.

PLAYERS LAID OUT

Down two goals at half time, Hibernians managed to draw with Partick. In the first half, several players were injured. The Thistles finished with nine men only. O'Hare and Kinloch being laid out. Grove and Nees scored for Partick and Murray and Dunn for the Hibernians. The attendance was 20,000.

Big Sam Realized At Benefit Game For Hockey Star

Toronto, March 10.—More than 4,000 fans showed their appreciation of the sterling qualities of grit and sportsmanship as exemplified in little Johnny Brackenborough, when they turned out here Saturday night at the testimonial game for the injured Hamilton Tiger star. It was announced that 4,154 paid admissions had netted a sum of $3,954. Four officials contributed $50 for the "privilege" of acting, and an additional $75 was realized by auctioning off an autographed hockey stick. Twenty-nine senior players participated in the game, including most of the Canadian Olympic team, which resulted in a two to two draw.

Great Crowd Will Witness Calgary-Vancouver Clash

Vancouver, March 10.—The stage is all set for the first game of the night of the final inter-league hockey series between Calgary Tigers, western league champions, and Vancouver Maroons, coast titleholders. Indications are that one of the biggest crowds to witness a hockey contest in this city will be on hand at the Arena tonight.

Whatever the outcome of the post-season series both the Maroons and the Tigers will go East in quest of the Stanley Cup and the winner of the present series will draw the bye into the cup finals, if the West has its first fettle for a night's battle. It is just possible that ten men may be allowed to participate in the post-season games.

The game here between E. L. Richardson, head of the prairie league, and Frank Patrick, of the coast league.

Both teams arrived in town Sunday morning, and early reports to-day indicate that each member of the team is in fine fettle for a night's battle. It is just possible that ten men may be allowed to participate in the post-season games.

Goal by Morenz Gives Canadiens Lead on Senators

Ottawa Held Scoreless by Frenchmen in First Playoff Game in N.H.L.

Montreal, March 10.—Canadiens will enter the second game of the National Hockey League playoff in Ottawa with a one-goal lead as a result of their 1 to 0 victory over the champion Ottawa Senators, in the first of two playoff games for the league title, played here on Saturday night.

Canadiens dominated the play in a game which, while lacking sparkle, was one of the old-time struggles that kept the crowd at high tension throughout.

Nighbor's poke-check and brilliant goalkeeping by Benedict were coupled with heavy ice-keeping Canadiens out.

When the Ottawa defense was broken shortly after the start of the second period, Morenz flashed through and baited in the puck for the only counter of the game. Benedict was attempting to clear Billy Boucher's fast shot when Morenz broke through and Benedict did not have a chance to save.

PLENTY OF PENALTIES

Not before this season has such a close checking game been seen in the National Hockey League. There was no quarter allowed by either side, fair body checks were frequent, while tripping and hooking in the excitement of play sent the referee to a most pleasing time.

Better playing power, despite Ottawa's great physical strength, was the big factor in Canadiens' victory.

SUMMARY

First period—No score.
Second period—1. Canadiens Morenz, 5:00.
Third period—No score.

Bluebirds Victors Over All-Stars in Exciting Game

In an exceptionally fast and exciting basketball game played at the armory last Saturday night, the All-stars went down to defeat at the hands of the Bluebirds by the score of twenty-four to twenty.

The Bluebirds went away with a rush in the first half, when Art Hole scored with three long shots from center. The All-stars then netted their first tally, and with one point being added to the Bluebirds' score on a free throw, the score remained at 10-10.

Upon changing ends the All-stars made things lively for the Bluebirds and by a series of combined and individual rushes gradually crept up to the Blue birds' score and great excitement, tying the count at twenty before the period was half over. The latter part of the game was conspicuous for hard checking on both sides, neither team being anxious to give any openings. Rutledge put the All-stars up on a nice shot, which brought the All-stars on the offensive again, without result. Kennen scored the game over netting a point, while the All-stars, although having plenty of shots at the basket, seemed unable to guide the ball successfully through.

Tommy Meek, referee of the game, and the teams were:

All-stars—Moore and Brindley, forwards; Jones, center; Sward and Danglefield, guards.
Bluebirds—Kennen and Rutledge, forwards; Dowds, center; Hole and Underwood, guards.

Rossland Suffers Another Bad Loss Against Bellevue

Alberta Champs Too Good For B.C. Amateurs; U.S. Game Goes 95 Minutes

Bellevue, Alta., March 10.—Out-playing their opponents at all stages of the game on Saturday night, the Bellevue Bulls defeated Rossland, the British Columbia champions, by a score of 5 to 0, and earned the right to travel to Regina to meet the Vics of that city in the next round. The two game series resulted in eleven goals for Bellevue, while Rossland failed to score.

The ice for the game on Saturday night was in splendid condition, and a fast game was the result. The game was remarkably clean, and only a few minor penalties were handed out.

Butterfield and Hanson scored four of the winners' goals between them, registering two each, and Toward and Dear notched the other counters. Rossland were only dangerous on occasions, and failed to solve the stone-wall defense of Thompson, Mackie and Anderson.

Chilean Heavyweight Now in Limelight

There promises to be plenty of color in the heavyweight ring this year.

Erminio Spalla's splendid showing against his heavier opponent, Luis Firpo last week, makes it certain that his services will be in demand when he strikes New York. Firpo himself will return to the United States shortly, and he will be booked for many bouts if he does not want too much money. And then along comes Rojas, the Chilean man-eater, stronger and bigger than Firpo, who is going to be groomed for some feature bouts in the States. This will provide plenty of international taste for Tex Rickard, who will no doubt use to good advantage in starring bouts with Jack Dempsey, Harry Wills, Tommy Gibbons and some of the other top-notchers on the other side of the line.

German and French Boxers Are Given Permission to Box

Paris, March 10.—The French Boxing Federation has lifted the ban on German and French boxers, who were previously forbidden to engage in bouts in French rings. French boxers, under the ruling are free to fight in Germany.

Selkirks Come From Behind and Are Now Level With Brandon

Winnipeg, March 10.—Selkirk and Brandon, fighting for the championship of the Manitoba Hockey League and their right to enter into the Allan Cup playoffs, fought to a two to two draw here on Saturday night. Selkirks, who were regarded as Manitoba's hope to bring back west the Allan Cup, received a rude jolt and the world's champion in an even break. The locals were slow in starting, with the result that the wheat city team obtained an early advantage of two goals and then resorted to defensive tactics.

The fishermen showed their fighting spirit in the last period, and by virtue of several brilliant combination efforts succeeded in overcoming the lead. The teams met in the final game to-night.

West and Vets Win First Games in Soccer Series

Esquimalt and Moose Eliminated in Brown Cup Competition; Games Were Good

As a result of their victories on Saturday the Victoria Wests and Veterans entered the semi-finals of the Brown cup. The Wests disposed of the Moose by two goals to nil, while the Vets were successful in defeating Esquimalt by the odd goal in three.

The games were the first in the Brown cup series which for some time was discontinued. The Victoria and District Football League decided to revive it this year and six teams entered. The Vets played in the first round, and will meet the Wests and Vets in the semi-finals.

CLOSE GAMES

Both games on Saturday were very close, and there was not a great deal of scoring. The Vets played a hard game, but they could not penetrate the green-shirted defense, and had to go scoreless. This makes the fourth time in a season that the Moose have had to bow before the Wests.

KIND OF SURPRISE

The Veterans came to life with a bang and handed the Esquimalt boys a surprise. The Vets played a sound game all the way, and needed to, as Esquimalt was in good form. The issue was not decided until well into the second half when Bruce slugged the ball into the net. In the first half Ericson scored for the Veterans, and Tommy Watt scored for the Vets. The game was a hard one, and it was not until the fourth minute of the second half that the Vets scored.

JUNIOR RESULTS

The Junior League games on Saturday resulted in victories for the Saanich Thistles and Esquimalt. The Victoria Wests were unable to field a team, and Esquimalt took the two points by default.

HOTSPURS SUFFER

Tottenham's defeat by two goals at the hands of Sheffield United is the heaviest they have sustained in many years.

Other trick performers were Duncan in Leicester City's five to one win over Bristol City and Hammond in Rotherham's defeat of Hartlepool by five to two.

Many Horses to Run in Kentucky Derby This Year

Louisville, Ky., March 10.—One hundred and fifty-two three-year-olds, the largest number in twenty-five years, have been nominated for the fifteenth running of the Kentucky Derby, according to the latest published Saturday by M. J. Winn, general manager of the Kentucky Jockey Club. The largest number since 1905 and 1923.

The golden anniversary of probably the richest race in America will be celebrated at Churchill Downs May 17. The distance is at a mile and a quarter for a purse carrying 100,000 dollars and a gold trophy for the winner.

Every stake-winning two-year-old of last year has been nominated, and every leading turfman in America is represented in the list of nominations.

Among them are George D. Widener's St. James, winner of the Belmont Futurity, with $59,358 to his credit; J. S. Ward's Wise Counselor, winner of the Kentucky Club stakes and the J. S. Ward's Beau Butler, winner of the Pimlico Futurity and $57,580; Mrs. W. M. Jefford's Phoenix, winner of the Hopeful stakes and $48,725; Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt II is represented by the unbeaten Saracen, ten times first and winner of $37,880; J. S. Couden by Lord Baltimore II, winner of $26,305; V. Viduod, by Peter King, winner of $27,462; J. S. Ward by Worthmore, winner of $21,597; Mrs. R. M. Hoops by Black Gold, winner of $19,163; H. F. Sinclair by Braceland, winner of $17,490; and Stanwick, winner of $12,075.

The race, as in other years, is largely the east against the west, and an international tinge through the nomination of six imported thoroughbreds.

The University opened the play with a rush that brought the ball well into the Brentwood twenty-five. The nearly scoreless Brentwood players broke up a three-quarter run and returned the ball to the center. Play remained in this part of the field for about ten minutes. Then the Brentwood three-quarters got going and drove the ball into the University twenty-five. Lord I broke up this fine play by good tackle on Henderson and the ball was again returned to center. Then the forwards headed by Graham dribbled the ball into the Brentwood twenty-five, and heeled it to the three-quarters. Wire passed to Lord I. This nearly produced a try, but once again the Brentwood backs saved their line by fine tackling and kicking.

At the beginning of the second half the Brentwood players tried hard to score, but their efforts were unavailing. Only the plunging of Lord I, the tackling of Lord II and the kicking of Tye II prevented them from crossing the University line. The University then played a hard game, and at last dribbled the ball out of the danger zone and into the Brentwood twenty-five. Graham I kicked the ball over the Brentwood line, and only failed to score through the fact that the ball had rolled into the dead ground. Ham tried a "drop" kick, which missed by a small margin. This kick was followed shortly by another by Tye II, which also missed its mark. Brentwood then took on the offensive and forced the University back to center. Wire Brindley did some fine kicking which gained many yards for the Brentwood team, who when the whistle blew for simultaneous play with their passing these miles.

McGraw Picks Reds As Most Dangerous Rival of New York

New York, March 10 (Canadian Press)—John McGraw, of New York Giants, is the first of the pre-season baseball prophets. McGraw, who has been in the city since last night, says that the Cincinnati will offer the Giants the greatest opposition this season, while the Yankees outclass the other teams in the American League and should win another pennant.

"Cincinnati will be the strongest opponent of the Giants this season," said McGraw. "Although I do not agree with many persons who believe that Carl Mays is going to be a great winner in the National League, I believe that the Reds have been greatly strengthened in the box. In 1923, they had a fine team which has Rixey, Luque and Denohue is to be feared. Still, I think the superior punch and defense of the Giants will counter-balance the Cincinnati pitching."

Sunderland Now Leader of First Division in O.C.

Hurdled Cardiff City, Which Was Busy in Cup-Ties; Goalie's Fine Record

London, March 10.—Owing to the fact that Cardiff City were engaged in the cup tie round on Saturday, Sunderland got to the head of the first league, by virtue of their victory over Nottingham Forest, 2 to 1, Saturday. Cardiff City have, however, only played four games in the league as against Sunderland's thirty-two.

By defeating West Bromwich Albion Saturday, Aston Villa will make their eleventh appearance in the semi-finals of the cup, and they have a good chance of appropriately celebrating their "hundred year" anniversary by winning the cup for the sixth time in their career as a club.

HOTSPURS SUFFER

Other trick performers were Duncan in Leicester City's five to one win over Bristol City and Hammond in Rotherham's defeat of Hartlepool by five to two.

LOCALS STEP OUT

In the second game the newspaper boys started off with such a rush that the seniors could turn around. Tye II, a whinney and McConnell scored the counters. Seattle pressed hard in an effort to tie up the score, but the whistle blew with The Colonists leading four to three.

The final period produced the fastest hockey of the evening, with both teams battling to gain the end. McConnell covered himself with glory in the final period, scoring two goals in quick succession. Seattle's last goal came a few minutes later when Swenson beat the rubber in the net. Manwhinney came back a few minutes later with a goal for the newbies.

For The Colonists, Mawhinney and McConnell both played fine hockey on the attacking line, while Bothwell and Delahanty were good on the defense. For the visitors, P. ## TAKEN BY CHICAGO POLICE

JOHN SYLVESTER LYNN

Capture of John Sylvester Lynn by the Chicago police who are detaining him at the request of the Canadian authorities, is announced in a news dispatch.

Since he saved through the bars of his dormitory cubicle while a patient at the Wilkinson Road Mental Hospital here, and effected his escape for the second time from that institution on November 30, 1921, Lynn has been sought by the Canadian authorities without avail. Lynn was sentenced to be hanged for murder at Kamloops on October 21, 1912. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. After six years in penitentiary Lynn was committed to a hospital for the mentally unsound and sent as a patient to the Wilkinson Road institution. He made an escape after about a year's detention and was captured when recognized by the skipper of a tug at Sidney.

Lynn, in company with Sailor Malone, effected his second escape on November 30, 1921, after a very carefully planned ruse. Equipped with steel saws the men sawed their way through two one-inch bars in the doors of their cubicles. The work must have taken days, but they filled the chinks with soap. When the bars had been removed the two men crawled through holes just large enough to admit the passage of their body and lay in wait for the nightwatchman. Seizing the watchman as he descended the stairs outside of the dormitory they clapped him into a clothes cupboard. Then they fled. The skipper of the tug at Sidney, who was on duty at the time, was informed of the escape and he and his crew searched the tug and the surrounding waters but were unable to find the fugitives.

Saturday by the Victoria branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada. A large attendance of members and ladies were escorted to the observatory by members who kindly lent their cars for the occasion. Dr. Plaskett's address was most interesting and instructive and the party much enjoyed the social visit. Col. W. R. Wilby proposed a very hearty vote of thanks.

Victoria Chapter No. 17, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a social dance this evening in the K. of P. Hall from 8.45 to 12 o'clock. Good music and refreshments will be provided.

At the close of a hearing in the juvenile court on Saturday three boys between fifteen and seventeen years of age were granted suspended sentence on conviction of the joyriding in borrowed motor cars. One boy, fifteen, alleged by the police to be the leader, confessed to leading his associates into thinking him in bed at night by liberal use of pillows under the covers. The leader was placed on probation for six months and his two companions for periods of three months each.

Saturday's tag day netted $1,050, which will be utilized to alleviate the sufferings of tuberculous ex-service men and in support of the campaign against tuberculosis. The Tuberculosis Veterans' Association is waging against the disease. The Tuberculosis Veterans' desire to thank a very generous public: Mrs. K. Palmer and Mrs. H. Crocker, who successfully organized the affair; the taggers for the enthusiastic and energetic manner in which they took an active part; the Victoria Daily News, for the valuable publicity; and also the local theatre managers, for the splendid display of the day.

The 150-mile scenic drive from Los Angeles to Victoria is the subject of a special full page article in the Sunday edition of The Los Angeles Examiner. The article features the annual of the Pacific Highway trip and many alluring pictures of Vancouver Island help to make the article attractive. Although it was only published a week ago several inquiries have already been received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. Among them one from an Australian who states that after reading the article he believes that Victoria would be a more desirable place to live than California.

PUBLIC SYMPATHY MUST BE AROUSED

The publicity campaign committee of the Amputations and Tuberculosis Veterans' Association on the question of ex-service men's pensions has commenced to distribute 30,000 leaflets among the people of Vancouver Island, with a view to urging the many organizations and associations to co-operate with it by passing resolutions in support of the permanent pension of the present pensions, plus bonus, and forwarding such resolutions to the proper authorities during the present legislative session at Ottawa.

The information on the printed leaflet which the association is broadcasting throughout the Island, dealing with the outstanding phases of the pensioner's situation. The pension paid to a totally disabled ex-service man is $50 per month, it states, and this is supplemented by a bonus of $25, which will cease on August 31.

In order to be classed in the category of a totally disabled man, the pensioner must either have lost the sight of both eyes, two or more limbs, have contracted active tuberculosis, acute heart trouble or some other similar serious disease, the pamphlet asserts. It is time, the pamphlet adds, that the pensioner should be recognized as a permanent invalid, and that the pension and bonus should be made permanent.

On behalf of widows, dependents and disabled pensioners the Amputations and Tuberculosis Veterans' Associations make this plea for the support of the public in the campaign to rid the Island of the crippled soldiers of the Great War.

WILL FACILITATE DEVELOPMENT OF RESOURCES

A complete hydrographic survey of the West Coast of Vancouver Island was called for in a resolution presented to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon. The resolution follows a recent address on the subject at a membership meeting when it was pointed out that the Island's shipping business could never be properly built up or wharfage accommodation along the coast line properly erected until the survey was made. The resolution reads:

"Whereas the natural resources of the west coast of Vancouver Island, namely: lumber, minerals, fishing, etc., are exceedingly extensive, and whereas surveys of the coast-line and various inlets, for purposes of safe navigation, would appear anything but complete, and whereas there have been, in the past, many serious shipwrecks on the coast of Vancouver Island due in a very large measure to a lack of proper surveys, and whereas looking to the utilization of the shipping facilities of Vancouver and Victoria and the development of British Columbia's vast resources it is essential that more complete surveys be available to navigation, and whereas the Dominion Government be strongly urged to proceed with the complete survey of the west coast of Vancouver Island bringing into use, if necessary, additional ships and equipment for the early prosecution of this work, and whereas it is further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Vancouver Board of Trade, together with requests for their co-operation herein,"

G. MacGregor, in moving the resolution, said development of the West Coast was progressing rapidly, and the lack of a survey would prove a detriment.

The resolution was seconded by the motion, which was carried.

BOYS ARE HOSTS TO FATHERS AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Father and Son Gathering at Y.M.C.A. is Exceptional Success

The annual Father and Son Banquet, held Saturday evening in the big gymnasium of the local Y.M.C.A. was attended by over 500 men and boys. The occasion was a most successful affair of its sort held in many years and was indicative of the growing popularity of the movement for better understanding between fathers and sons. The program was a most interesting one, and the speakers were of high caliber.

Lou A. Buckley, national boys secretary of the Y.M.C.A., delivered an eloquent and inspiring address, stating that better understanding and more companionship among fathers and sons was essential if the best results in moulding the characters of Canadian citizens were to be achieved. Boys are like ships upon a voyage, he said, and need the continual guidance of a pilot, and fathers should bear in mind the responsibility which rests upon the shoulders of the "pilot." The speaker should teach by example, for character is caught, not taught, the speaker asserted. The value and proper use of money, recreation and sex education were the fundamentals which the fathers should instill into the youthful mind, and that the boys might be able to form beneficial habits and such that would direct them in later years.

COMPANIONSHIP ESSENTIAL

Mr. Buckley spoke of his experience as a friend of a chief police officer of one of the major cities of Canada, who had told him that never in his long term of office had he encountered a boy who had committed a large number of crimes, who had been his daily companion. He pointed out, too, that the fathers were often willing to make a "pal" of their sons, but that they did not always give them that opportunity.

Ira Dilworth, chairman of the boys' work committee, presided at the banquet and made a most interesting dealing with the success of similar father and son banquets, and the benefits derived from constant association of parents with their boys.

Bradley Watson proposed the toast to "Our Dads," which was replied to by Attorney-General A. M. Manson.

A. Morrison gave the toast to "Our Sons," and Ivan McComb replied. William Dickenson proposed the final toast, "To Our Association and its Work."

G. A. Warburton, general secretary of the Toronto Y.M.C.A. and campaign organizer, fittingly responded.

J. J. McCall gave several vocal selections during the course of the evening, and an excellent orchestra, led by Ivor Parfitt, supplied music through the hours of festivity.

Mrs. J. H. Fletcher was convener of the committee in charge of the catering, and she and her able helpers were heartily thanked and complimented on the success of the gathering, which was largely due to her efforts.

Attorney-General A. M. Manson, Hon. J. D. parents with their boys, and His Worship Mayor Hayward were among the guests present.

ASKS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO FORM HEALTH COMMITTEE

A health committee of the Chamber of Commerce to deal with such questions as health, insurance, narcotic drugs, vaccination, disease prevention, and so forth, was recommended by Dr. McQuinn Raynor at the directors' meeting to-day.

"If you think it advisable to form such a committee I would volunteer as a member," he believed through the forum the public could be enlightened on many problems," the doctor wrote.

The Esquimalt School Board will meet in session at 8 p.m. to-day to consider the letting of painting tenders and other items of a routine nature.

PLAN BEAUTIFYING OF CEMETERY LAND

Natural History Society Urges Planting of Trees and Hardy Shrubs

Estimates as to the cost of a low cement wall, on that side of the Ross Bay cemetery nearest to the sea, have been lately considered as a means of protecting the grounds of this public property. The Natural History Society has suggested alternatively that trees, plants and shrubs be set out in the cemetery, and wishes to confer with the city council in this regard.

A letter from the council to the president of the society reads as follows:

"It is understood that your society wishes to make some arrangements for the beautification of that part of Ross Bay Cemetery adjacent to the sea wall by the planting of trees and shrubs. I am directed by the chairman of the Parks Committee to inform you that the committee would be glad to meet and confer with you on this matter at any time convenient to you."

The difficulty arises as to what plants or trees would be hardy enough to survive the salt-laden winds and storms which intermittently sweep over that portion of the coast where the cemetery lies. Consultation with the Natural History Society however, may be the means of finding some feasible method of beautifying the cemetery.

Has Played Many Parts

Descendant of the Puritans, sailor, world traveler, painter, author and last of all, one of the most talented of actors—that is Hobart Bosworth, known for his work on the screen all over the world. Bosworth plays the role of General Mendoza in Emmett Flynn's first Goldwyn picture, "In the Palace of the King," this week's attraction at the Capitol Theatre. He has a colorful and appealing role and acts it masterfully. It is a contribution to screen art. Blanche Sweet plays the lead.

Bosworth was born in Marietta, where he played leads with Julia Marlowe, Henrietta Crossmon, Amelia Bingham, Mrs. Minnie Madden Fiske. In 1900 his health broke, and he was forced to battle tuberculosis on the desert in Arizona and Colorado for the next nine years. During these years he read widely and developed his latent ability as a landscape painter.

In 1909 Bosworth entered motion pictures as actor, writer, director. First he went with the Selig Polyscope company, and in 1913 became president of Bosworth, Inc., which made a specialty of Jack London stories, the most successful of which was "The Sea Wolf" still remembered as a great picture.

After that he filled a year's contract with Universal, then joined Lasky for "Joan the Woman," "Oliver Twist," and other successes. Needing relaxation from the screen he presented a tabloid version of "The Sea Wolf" on a vaudeville circuit.

Since then he has appeared in such notable pictures as "Blind Hearts," "The Sea Lion," "White Hands," "Behind the Door," "Rupert of Hentzau" and many others.

tions: "The Strangers' Banquet" and "The Eternal Three." An odd coincidence came about when Bosworth was cast in "In the Palace of the King," since Bosworth directed Flynn in the first picture in which his present director played a leading role.

Returns to Dominion in "The White Rose," Notable Scenic Triumph

Motion picture patrons of England will very likely find in D. W. Griffith's new production, "The White Rose," a more or less British effort in view of the fact that the two leading roles are essayed by Ivor Novello and Miss Mae Marsh. The latter has been working in English films for some time before returning to the Griffith banner.

Just before sailing from London to rejoin Mr. Griffith and appear in his new work, Miss Marsh had completed in England two pictures, "Paddy-the-Next-Best-Thing," and another. Novello is well-known on the London stage, in English films and as a writer of songs and musical comedies.

Miss Marsh essays in "The White Rose," a United Artists release, now showing at the Dominion, the role of an orphan girl and Novello will be seen as the son of a wealthy Southern family. Novello's characterization has to do with a youth who is sent into the ministry by his people and far away from the girl he loves.

Particular attention to the scenic or photographic settings for the episodes of this new work. He traveled all through the southern part of the United States to obtain proper atmosphere and tangled old estate gardens that are rare in other sections.

In addition to Mr. Novello and Mae Marsh there will be seen in leading roles Miss Carol Dempster, Charles Emmet Mack, Neil Hamilton, Lucille La Verne, Porter Strong, Erville Alderson, Herbert Sutch and others.

Famous Dog Forms Theme of
Royal Appeal"The Love Master" Features
"Strongheart" in Best Picture

Strongheart is at the Royal Theatre. "The Love Master," the latest First National production starring this dog, opened there this afternoon. The reception accorded the picture by the audience coincided with the opinion of this reviewer that it is the best production in which Strongheart has ever appeared, and that is saying that it ranks high among the best entertainments ever offered by the screen.

Laurence Trimble, responsible for the training of Strongheart, not only directed the production, but also wrote the story, and his keen perception of the remarkable dramatic ability of his star adds to the fascination of the picture. An outsider, one who did not know Strongheart as intimately as Mr. Trimble, would not have dared to require a dog to do the things which Strongheart does in a manner that makes it look awfully easy.

It was through a remarkable sequence in "The Love Master" that we realized what a discerning mind the person had who dubbed the first grand passion "puppy love." Strongheart becomes afflicted with the yearning for feminine companionship, and then the film is given over entirely to him and his quest for his heart mate. It carries him through all the exaltations and heart pangs of thwarted love to the happy culmination of finding his ideal "blonde."

Lillian Rich and Harold Austin, who head the human cast, stamp themselves as genuine "comers" in their chosen profession. The rest of the cast is especially well chosen also, but Strongheart proves himself entitled to star through the force of his personality and genuine ability.

Anna Nilsson Declares For Love With Brains

Columbia Presents Film Depicting Mutual Responsibilities of Matrimony

"Loving takes brains," declares
Anna Q. Nilsson. "A successful wife uses her head as well as her heart.
A good mother is not just a loving mother—mothering takes brains."
Not at all the sort of conversation one would expect to hear while a group of motion picture stars were waiting for the director to call "camera" in the Graf Studios where
"Half-a-Dollar-Bill," the new Metro picture, now playing at the Columbia
Theatre, was being filmed.

Anna Q. Nilsson admits that she married a Los Angeles business man six months ago. She has faith in her marriage. "I hope we have brains enough not to add our names to the divorce calendar," she said.

EACH MUST DO HIS PART
According to her theory of successful marriage a husband and a wife each has a "part" to perform.
Each must be babied by the other to a certain extent, yet each must have brains enough to realize that no one has yet been borne quite perfect, and so each must be willing to overlook the little faults of the other.

PITIES, YET ADMIRES HER
"Married to a brute of a husband, that is worse than hopeless; forced to give up her only child in order to save his life and utterly unable to survive the storms of life. She is one of the most pathetic characters
I have ever interpreted, yet there is something so human and noble about her that at times I look upon her with admiration."
Besides Miss Nilsson, the cast of this Max Graf production for Metro has William T. Carleton, Raymond
Hatton, Mitchell Lewis, George Mac Quarrie, Alec E. Francis, and the four-year-old "find," Frankie Darro.
Curtis Benton wrote the story and
W. E. Van Dyck directed. Andre Bariatier was photographer. Alfred A. Cohen wrote the titles. It was personally supervised by Max Graf.

A party leader is a man who can take a popular delusion and convert it into a plank.

Mantell Has Three Plays in Repertoire Here

Will Produce Two Shakespearean
Features, and Lytton's
"Richelieu"

America's foremost exponent of the classic drama, Mr. Robert B. Man-tell, supported by a New York cast of exceptional excellence, headed by Miss Genevieve Hamper, will hold the stage at the Pantages Theatre, Friday night, Saturday matinee and night of this week. Friday night,
Mr. Mantell will present Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton's "Richelieu"; Saturday matinee, "As You Like It";
Saturday night, "Julius Caesar."

Each play will be magnificently mounted, and will be presented according to the best traditions of the classical drama.
In these days of bed-room farces and no-plot musical comedies, it is a privilege to attend a Shakespearean play interpreted by a company of players trained in correct stage deportment and the proper enunciation of the English language. Mr. Man-tell, thoroughly schooled and experienced in the classic drama, is not only a great actor but a wonderful stage director and teacher as well.

Every play in his extensive repertoire is produced under his personal direction, which accounts for their completeness in every detail; and his productions are always splendidly mounted; from the first scene to the final curtain you are never out of the atmosphere of the play. Miss Genevieve Hamper, the leading woman of the Mantell organization, whose development on the foundation of grace and beauty as rare in a feminine physique as her intense ambition to act is common in the feminine heart, has developed along the lines of Mr. Mantell's own sketching. He was fortunate in getting hold of her before she had been spoiled by previous training—before she had learned the thousand and one things necessary to unlearn before the player of the modern type can be developed into a classicist. From his own long stage experience, Mr. Man-tell has evolved a set of ideas as to what a Shakespearean actress should be like, and with the art of a master he has raised this talented woman to his own high plane of artistry. To Mr. George Stilwell, the clever and handsome young leading man, are assigned the roles formerly played by Fritz Liebler, for whom he is a brilliant successor.

Old Story in New Guise at The Playhouse

"Bing Boys From Bingville"
to be Adapted to Date:
"Fifty Candles"

The musical portion of the bill at the Playhouse Theatre this week will be a revival in revised form of the most popular thing ever staged by that versatile producer, Reginald Hincks, namely, "The Bing Boys
From Bingville." Ernie Patch and Reg. Hincks will again take the parts of the two delightful country bumpkins with their quaint ways and uproarious humor and those who saw these two artists in the same characters before can vouch for their laughter producing qualities.

The screen portion of the programme is a photoplay of the well-known Saturday Evening Post story,
"Fifty Candles," a story full of gripping situations and thrilling climaxes.
The comedy, "A Hula Honeymoon," is said to be a really funny one.
In "Fifty Candles" an unusual knife is featured, more like an Oriental dagger.

MAJOR ARNOLD AND HIS SON, FLORENT.—The cadet, whose departure from the Royal Military College, Kingston, following a bareback beating, has resulted in an inquiry being instituted, has returned to Kingston from New York, with his father and has been at the disposal of the investigation if the hearings are open.

INDIAN CHIEFS DESCEND ON QUEEN'S PARK.—In the group are Big Chief Samson Yellowstone (centre), Second Chief John Bigwin (in head-dress), and head tribesman David Simcoe, all of the Beaudouin Tribe, who visited the Ontario Parliament Buildings in Toronto in an effort to regain Bigwin Island in Lake-o-Bays and Georgian Island in Lake Simcoe, which they claim were granted to their grandfathers for service in the War of 1812. On the left is a close-up of Chief John Bigwin.

CANADA'S DR. ABRAMS.—Dr. S. F. Tichborne, of Toronto, claims to be able to determine sex and character from blood samples. He is shown working with the intricate instruments used in the tests.

WRESTLER EATS GOLD LEAF.—Prince Coho Gobar is an Indian wrestler but that's not his only claim to distinction. Coho eats gold leaf and we don't mean maybe. Wrestling's almost a religion in Calcutta where his dad is a wealthy merchant prince. Everybody does it and there's no jawing about big purses, etc. Coho, now in New York seeking fame as a mat artist, says all Indian wrestlers eat gold leaf. He eats $60 worth every month, more than enough to make a big window sign. That stuff in his hand about to enter his royal mouth is the gold leaf about which we're raving. Isn't that proof he eats it? Don't be so skeptical—but don't try eating it yourself. Stick to something more imaginative like applesauce or oatmeal.

CONQUERS PYORRHEA.—Dr. Harold Box, Toronto dentist, has perfected a treatment for pyorrhea which is strongly endorsed by the Ontario Department of Health.

BEATS U.S. IMMIGRATION.—Olga Yostovitch, a young Serbian girl who defied the U.S. immigration authorities to deport her and who worked as a cloak model in New York sooner than return to her native land to continue education work. She has just settled her right to American citizenship by marrying a professor at Yale University.

BACK FROM OBLIVION.—General Gregorie Semenov, Ataman of the Cossacks, and one-time commander of all Russian forces in the Far East, has again turned up in Tokio after eighteen months' spent in virtual oblivion. Adherents of this faction intimate that Semenov is awaiting the opportune moment for his return to Siberia.

HA HA!—Even President Coolidge, "Silent Cal," as they call him, has to smile when Harry Lauder tells him a funny story. Photo above was snapped while Lauder was talking on a recent visit to the White House. It's an unusual photo for a president.

ASK HER ANYTHING.—Eugene Dennis, an eighteen-year-old Kansas girl, who is present in New York undergoing a series of tests prepared by the American Psychical Institute. She claims to be in possession of a variety of unusual powers which enable her to tell the past, present and future or aid in solving mysteries that have baffled the police.

HEADS AIR FIRE FIGHTERS.—Capt. W. R. Maxwell has been appointed head of the forest flying service of the Ontario department of lands and forests. He will have charge of thirteen planes.

CALIPH OUT OF JOB.—Abdul Melid Effendi, whose post as Caliph of Turkey is abolished by the Angora Assembly.

The Mystery Road

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Author of

"Nobody's Man," "The Profiters," Etc.

"The gentleman will please be seated," he said.

Gerald found himself alone in an apartment not unduly large but exceedingly lofty. It was simply but magnificently furnished, but only a single rug lay upon the floor. The windows looked sheer over the sea, and the thunder of the waves against the jagged rocks seemed almost at his feet. The windows themselves were narrow—the windows of a fortress—and the depth of the window seat showed the thickness of the walls. Gerald had little time to take note of these things, however. Within a moment or two of his being left alone, the door opened and Pauline entered.

Speech of any sort, it seemed to Gerald, must be pitifully inadequate. He stood looking at her, wondering if anything in her expression would give him the clue to her mysterious behaviour. She came towards him, however, as composed and unresponsive as ever. There was nothing whatever in her manner to indicate the fact that she was greeting the man who had risked his life in a mad enterprise for her sake.

"You have had a long journey, Lord Dombay," she said.

He bowed over the hand which she had extended to him.

"A long journey, indeed," he assent, "a journey down into hell and back."

"Sit down," she invited, "and I will give you the explanation I owe you."

"Thank you," he answered, "I do not feel at home in this house. Let me remain standing until after you have told me what it all means. I have done your bidding. I have come to beg for my reward."

Her eyes looked at him coldly.

"I promised no reward," she reminded him.

"Not in words," he admitted, "yet you know what I desire."

"What you desire is absurd," she declared. "That is what I wish to explain. You have discovered, perhaps, who I am."

"I learned who your brother was," she went on, "listen. I am the Grand Duchess Pauline of Russia, Princess and hereditary ruler of the Caspian Provinces, and nearest in kin amongst living women to Nicholas, who was murdered by the people. The man whom you rescued is Paul, Grand Duke of Volostok, hereditary ruler of seventeen provinces, and nearest in the male line to the Crown of Russia. He is my cousin."

"Your cousin?" Gerald exclaimed.

"And my husband," she answered calmly.

Gerald was extraordinarily cool.

The situation began slowly to shape itself in his mind.

"It has been the province of royalty," Pauline continued, "to make use of their couriers, without explanation, in whatever way may seem good to them. I have made use of you. I did not seek your acquaintance or your friendship. I have made you no promises. I have kept you much farther away even from hope than would many of my illustrious ancestors. Yet, in these days, you will probably think that you have been ill-treated. I cannot help it. I and others of my race have been ill and mercilessly treated. You have been a small wrong. I made use of you and your devotion to free my cousin, to whom I was affianced. So far as my thanks can satisfy you, I tender them."

"You are very gracious," Gerald acknowledged, forgetting all his weariness and holding himself like a man. "May I ask, were you married to the Grand Duke when I fetched him from his prison?"

"I was not," Pauline assured him. "I was married a month after his return to England, with the consent and the approbation of my relatives here. Paul and I have but one hope and one desire—to live until the time when the people of Russia return to their allegiance, and to re-establish the Romanoff dynasty in Russia, either through ourselves or our children. For that reason we are living here with an unseen guard provided by the English Government. When you first met us, we lived in seclusion because already four times my life had been attempted. There are still men pledged to destroy us root and branch. Here they will not succeed. We are surrounded by faithful guards and our lives are consecrated. Not until the children live and flourish who shall carry on our name, will I or my husband take the slightest risk. The world may see something of us later. For the present we have only one thought."

Gerald stood amongst the wreck of his dreams. He seemed to be listening to the thunder of the sea, to be watching the queer-shaped shaft of sunlight which stretched across the floor. He found speech almost impossible. The silence lasted so long, however, that he was compelled to break it.

"Your Highness' explanation is complete," he asked.

"It is complete," she replied. "You will understand that you—shall I call it admiration?—was in a sense an offence to me. In Monte Carlo I will admit that through sheer weariness I was perhaps a little indiscreet. The situation then seemed hopeless."

"I understand," Gerald murmured.

"The Grand Duke, my husband, will wish to offer you some hospitality," she said, touching a bell. "It is quite unnecessary," Gerald replied.

"Be so good as to await his coming," she enjoined.

Prayer Paul entered the room a moment or two later, a touch of sunburn on his cheeks, erect and handsome, a very different person from the broken prisoner of a few months ago. He advanced toward Gerald with outstretched hand.

"It gives me great pleasure," he said, "to welcome you in my very bad English to our home. You see, I reached England safely."

"I was glad to hear of it," Gerald remarked.

"Some day you must tell me your own adventures," the young man continued. "Perhaps you will give us the pleasure of your company to dinner to-night."

Gerald shook his head.

"I have promised the owner of the car which I hired," he said, "to return it to him to-night. I must, in fact, be leaving at once."

A servant entered with a tray bearing wine and whisky. Paul served his guest himself.

"I tell me that this is the most hospitable country in the world," he observed. "Even in Russia we should not let you depart without a toast. You will wish us those things for which Her Highness and I live."

Gerald bowed and raised his glass to his lips.

"I shall drink to you and to your country," he said, "and to the good of both."

He set down his glass empty. Pauline smiled her good-by, but they handed him over to the care of servants with the air of royalty—Gerald drove through the opened gates, heard the bars grind behind him, and, looking around for a last view, was dimly conscious of the men, who watched. Years afterwards, this strange visit, with all its trifling events, assumed its proper proportions in his mind. That night, however, he drove over the moors and around the mountains absolutely without any direct emotions. It was impossible to believe that his visit had not been the phantasm of an afternoon's slumber.

After they had left Toulon, the two men seemed almost to change places. Gerald, who for the last four days had been in much the same mentally comatose state as he had been since his return from Scotland, sat up and for the first time began to look about him with interest. Christopher, on the other hand, who during the whole of their journey had been continually endeavoring to amuse and entertain his companion, gradually relaxed into a rare fit of thoughtfulness, they had passed through Hyeres, however, and were winding their way around the Port du Dom, before any direct allusion was made to the subject which in varying degrees was foremost in the minds of both of them.

"About an hour and a half beyond this, wasn't it?" Gerald asked.

Christopher nodded. It was significant that he made no comment upon the fact that Gerald had caught up with his own train of thought.

"Just about this time of the year, too," Gerald went on, ruminatingly. "I remember these orchards were just showing a little pink. And you say she's back again there, Chris. I wonder why? There wasn't any trouble at home, was there?"

"Not the slightest," Christopher assured him. "In fact, all the time you were in Russia your father seemed to rely upon her absolutely. It was a great blow to him when she made up her mind to go back."

"But what made her want to leave?" Gerald persisted.

Christopher did not hesitate for a moment. He meant to take every possible advantage of this, the first sign of any real interest in life which Gerald had shown for months.

Uncle Wiggly's Little House

Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
(By Howard R. Garis)

Once upon a time, though it was close to Spring in Woodland where Uncle Wiggly lived, there came a big snow storm. The wind blew and the white flakes sifted down from the clouds. It was as if Mother Goose were up there, picking feathers and tossing them down.

"Jack Frost wants to show what he can do before he goes back to the North Pole," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy. "She looked out of the window of the warm, hollow stump gnat-gallop."

"Yes, Jack is making quite a snow storm," agreed Uncle Wiggly, who was sitting near the stove, twinkling his pink nose.

Nurse Jane went about the bungalow, doing her housework and frisking her tail over the furniture to knock off the dust. Uncle Wiggly placed his pink nose close against the window and looked out. His nose was quite flat because he pressed it so hard against the window.

"It certainly is snowing very hard," he murmured. Then he called, "Nurse C. Alkenhead (spare), what do you need, anything from the store?"

"Why yes, I need some sugar," answered the muskrat lady before she thought "I am going to bake a cake and I have no sugar."

"Then I'll hop to the store and get it for you," offered the bunny gentleman.

"And you shall do nothing of the sort!" exclaimed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "The idea! Going out in a storm like this! I will not let you!"

"But you said you needed sugar," went on the rabbit. "And as I want to have an adventure I'll go out to the store."

"Ah, but when I said I needed sugar," spoke the muskrat lady, "I forgot about the storm. I can just as well use molasses for sweetening in my cake. There is no need for you to go out in the snow."

"Oh, but I want to go!" laughed Mr. Longears, holding his paw over his pink nose, which was cold from being pressed against the window. "It will do me good to go out in the snow! I'll put on my rubber boots and my fur muffs and I have a warm fur coat."

So, no matter what Nurse Jane said, Uncle Wiggly was soon hopping out in the storm. The white flakes of snow were coming down faster and faster. They were so thick—almost like fog—that the rabbit uncle could scarcely see to hop along.

But at last he managed to reach the store, and there he bought some sugar for Nurse Jane to make up into a cake. Then, with the bag of sugar in his coat pocket, the rabbit started to hop back through the storm.

Calliopsis, yellow with brown marks; corn flowers, annual; Chrysanthemum, yellow, white, and striped; Clarkias, various shades of pink and rose; Echinium Plantaginifolium, blue; Gypsophila elegans (the annual chalk plant); and Linum Usitatissimum (the blue flax). There are hundreds of others, but the above will more than make up any small garden.

COLD FRAME PLANTS
The half-hardy annuals take a little more trouble and they are worth it. To grow them first make a cold frame. This need only be a box with a top of glass or sash. Water this well and cover the box with a sash. An old cellar window will do. Sow the seeds of the half-hardy annuals in this in rows very thinly, marking each row so you will know the plants when they develop. Do this about the middle of March should be ready for their permanent quarters by May. Before planting out the young plants it is necessary to harden them off by raising the sash during the day for several days and at last leaving it off altogether.

TALL, HARDY PLANTS
Among the taller half-hardy plants the following is a good selection: Kochia (Burning Bush), cyprus shaped; Salvia splendens, the tall, purple; Impatiens glandulifera, deep purple, loves shade; Salvia coccinea, scarlet; African and French Marigolds, various shades of red and purple; Cosmos (Mexican Star), many colors; and Cleome gigantea (Spider Flower), scarlet.

Among the lower-growing plants that are suitable these may be mentioned: Asters, all colors, shapes and sizes; ten weeks' stocks in numerous shades; Salpiglossis, beautiful metallic shades of rose, blue and many other colors; Schizanthus (Poor Man's Orchid), many shades; Statice, (Everlasting Flower), in many colors (this may be dried and kept for winter decoration); Zinnias, single and double (some of the newer types of Zinnias are wonderfully beautiful); and Dianthus barbatus, in many colors.

A few of the above are uncommon, but anyone who loves flowers wants to have some uncommon ones. An old writer in the year 1843 said, "If you wish to excel in gardening the daily culture of your plants is as indispensable as that of your ground." These short articles in The Monday Times are only able to touch the fringe of the subject. It is the hope of the writer, however, that they will create a desire to go further into the art of gardening, and that as a result readers will consult the many excellent gardening books on the subject which may be found in the Public Library and make use of the numerous garden magazines.

(Next week Mr. Hutchison will discuss some of the easier-grown Alpine and rock plants.)

OTHER VARIETIES
Of the dwarfier-growing subjects the following list contains many well-known flowers, together with a number that are not so well known. The latter cannot be bought at the grocery store, but any good seedsmen—and there are lots of them in Victoria—can supply them:

Nigella (love-in-a-mist), pale blue; Papaver Glaucum (the tulip poppy), bright red; Papaver Pinnatifidum (the peacock poppy), scarlet and black; Shirley poppies, single and double; Saponaria Vaccaria, pink and white; Amaranthus Caudatus (love-lies-bleeding); Anchusa Capensis, blue;

LATE PRESIDENT ACTIVE IN MANY WALKS OF LIFE

An interesting career is that of Walter J. Francis, of Montreal, who died on Thursday. He was president of the Engineering Institute of Canada at the time of his death.

He was born in Toronto in 1872, and was an honor graduate of the University of Toronto.

After graduation he became assistant to the chief engineer in charge of design and construction, Toronto Union Station. In 1896 he was appointed chief draughtsman on bridge construction with the Central Bridge Engineering Company, where he remained for one year. Subsequently he was engaged with the Department of Railways and Canals, and in that period he designed and was in charge of construction of two hydraulic lift locks on the Trent Canal—one at Peterborough and the other at Kirkfield. During this year he was in charge of the 22,000-h.p. hydro-electric plant, Bonington Falls.

In 1907, Mr. Francis was assistant manager and chief engineer of the Dominion Engineering and Construction Company, Montreal, as well as engineer of the Royal Commission on the Quebec Bridge disaster. In 1909 he reported on various hydro-electric power propositions including those of the Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick Power Commission.

Mr. Francis was a member of the American Society of Professional Engineers of Quebec in 1920; had been president of the Engineering Alumni Association, University of Toronto, since 1920; held membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain, American Institute of Consulting Engineers (charter member), the Engineering Society of Toronto (life member), American Public Health Association, Montreal Board of Trade, the Rotary Club of Montreal, National Club of Toronto, the Royal Societies Club, London, England, and numerous other organizations. In Rotary International he held appointment for seven years. In the Boy Scout and Wolf Cub he held the rank of Scoutmaster and found time in addition to his professional work in two different institutions, as well as being the secretary of the Grand First Principals of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Quebec.

A GARDEN ANYONE MAY HAVE

Annuals, Which Produce Their Full Bloom in One Season, Solve the Problem of the Rented House Dweller and the Enthusiast Who Cannot Wait Long For Results.
How to Make a Success of Annuals
By JOHN HUTCHISON, F.R.H.S.

Many people living in rented houses neglect the garden, thinking that a landlord's whim may rob them of all their labors at any moment. Even with this possibility the garden is still worth while, for it need not be a permanent institution, as it were, built up through years of work and expense. The dweller in the rented house should make use of annuals which may be planted in the Spring to produce all their bloom during the same year.

In the very small garden, particularly, annuals are always popular, because with them the amateur may try numerous experiments in the space of one season. And for the flower lover who wishes to become acquainted with new varieties annuals will certainly fill the bill.

One thing should be remembered, however—the garden planted with annuals will look very dreary during the winter months unless a few evergreen shrubs are added to take their place in the cold weather. These may be set behind the flower beds, and they will be in place in the Spring.

LESS EXPENSIVE
The growing of annuals may entail rather more work than other forms of gardening, but it is much less expensive. It is exactly suited to the person who has a slender purse but who loves to garden. The man who is enthusiastic one moment and indifferent the next, who takes infinite pains in choosing and sowing the seeds but neglects to look after the seedlings, does not thin out or water the plants, had better give up the idea of an annual garden, because under these conditions it will not be a success.

One seldom sees annuals really well grown. Last year in Oak Bay I saw some godolias so well grown that they looked like miniature rhododendrons. Six of them filled a small border. If you wish to grow annuals you must treat them with respect. Don't treat them indifferently just because they are cheap. I think it was Dean Hole who said that if a packet of Mignonette seed cost five shillings there would be a greater number of fine Mignonette plants than we sell now.

TWO CLASSES
There are two distinct classes of annuals which may be grown in the garden, the hardy annuals and the half-hardy annuals. True, there are the tender annuals also, but for the present we shall have to leave them alone, because they require a heated greenhouse or hot bed.

First we will deal with the hardy annuals. Sweet peas are by all odds the most popular hardy annual in the world, and there are no better sweet peas than those grown in Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands. There are a hundred varieties in as many colors. They should be sown in March in rich soil, each seed one inch from the next, and when they are well up they should be thinned out so that they are six inches apart. The seeds should be sown in a slight depression and the soil drawn towards the plants as they grow. Stakes or wire hoops should be provided for the vines to climb upon, as soon as the plants are two inches high. All the following may be sown directly where they are to grow, but remember to thin them out with a strong hand so as to give each plant plenty of room to develop.

Among the taller half-hardy plants the following is a good selection: Kochia (Burning Bush), cyprus shaped; Salvia splendens, the tall, purple; Impatiens glandulifera, deep purple, loves shade; Salvia coccinea, scarlet; African and French Marigolds, various shades of red and purple; Cosmos (Mexican Star), many colors; and Cleome gigantea (Spider Flower), scarlet.

But at last he managed to reach the store, and there he bought some sugar for Nurse Jane to make up into a cake. Then, with the bag of sugar in his coat pocket, the rabbit started to hop back through the storm.

the rabbit uncle could scarcely see to hop along. But at last he managed to reach the store, and there he bought some sugar for Nurse Jane to make up into a cake. Then, with the bag of sugar in his coat pocket, the rabbit started to hop back through the storm.

NOT GUILTY

To the Editor:—On my return from a meeting of the Synod of British Columbia this morning I find that your issue of yesterday states that I was elected by the Synod to serve as an alternate on the General Council of the United Church of Canada, whenever that body may be called into existence. There are some positions for which I have neither the qualifications nor the taste. This is one of such. The honor or in question was accorded to the Rev. W. L. MacRae.
